Observations... From Around Town

(BY JAY WHOZIT)

Tomorrow, August 14th is the third anniversary of VJ Day, the day on which America made Japan cry "Uncle," and although since that time much has been said and done toward effecting a real and lasting peace between the nations of the world, we are as far away, if not further, from that peace today than we were at that time. . . . the selective service (draft) board for Hancock County is being reorganized and registration of men between the ages of 18 and 26 will begin on August 30th. . . . today is Friday, the thirteenth, so if you are on the superstitious side be careful of black cats, walking under ladders, or any of the hundred and one things which make life miserable for those who thrive on superstition. . . . our American Legion baseball team, the Rockchaws, returned home from Jackson on Wednesday, after having lost to Jackson on Monday, 11 to 5, and to Greenwood on Wednesday, 8 to 3, in the state play-off but don't let anyone tell you these boys didn't play headsup ball, because they did, and it was only the breaks of the game which decided the winners, but they showed that sportsmanship for which Rockchaw teams are noted and took defeat like real men, a tribute to their coach, Forster Commagere. . . . we hope all of you saw the Teen-age Club show on Thursday night, not only because of the fact it was a grand show but because the price of admission which you paid will go toward assisting in the movement to give wholesome and worthwhile recreation to the youth of our city, and toward the eventual building of a teen-age center, a project we have long wished for. . . . just a reminder that the local library now has a drive on for funds to assist in procuring new and better books for your enjoyment, send in your contribution today. . . . the City of Bay St. Louis has a notice elsewhere in this issue to the effect that any user of city water who is delinquent in paying his water rent by September First will have same discontinued, until such time as all rent in arrears and for the current year will have been paid in full, so get yours paid now. . . . local businesses are bemoaning the fact that summer tourist trade has been far below normal this year, while on the other hand Waveland reports more visitors and more trade this season than ever before in its history. . . . housewives of Vicksburg this week joined in a nation-wide meat buyers' strike in an effort to bring down the cost of meat, and incidentally, other items of food, it might help if all housewives everywhere did the same. . . . Governor Fielding Wright and members of the State Agricultural and Industrial Board will play hosts to more than a hundred industrialists at a Waldorf-Astoria luncheon on New York on August 17th, in an effort to drum up industrial prospects for Mississippi.

St. Stanislaus Will Open On September 8th.

St. Stanislaus will open the 1948-49 Scholastic Year on Wednesday, September 8th. Brother Linus, Vice-President announced. All boarders will return on or before Tuesday, September 7th. Day scholars who did not attend St. Stanislaus last year will register Saturday, September 4th, Sunday, September 5th and Monday, September 6th.

St. Joseph Academy To Open Wednesday, Sept. 8th.

St. Joseph Academy will open the 1948-49 Scholastic year on Wednesday, September 8th. Mother Blanche announced. All boarders are expected to return on Tuesday, September 7th or before. Doggette Announces Candidacy Grover Doggette to speak at Waveland Town Hall Friday night, August 20th., 1948, at 8:00 p. m.

The following is Mr. Doggette's platform:

TO THE WHITE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE 6TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

I am a candidate for Congressman from the 6th Congressional District. Two years ago, at a time when I was practically unknown in many of the counties of this district, I received over 44% of the total votes cast for this office. I will always be grateful for that splendid endorsement. It is felt that with the friends made in that campaign, plus the ones I have made since then, we will win this race. When elected, I will work for, among other beneficial measures, the following:

FOREIGN RELATIONS. I favor a strong, definite, and well-planned foreign policy that will aid and lend assistance to any nation dedicated to the ideal of world peace and friendly relations between nations; but I am unalterably opposed to so many foolish and costly things being done abroad over and beyond the things that are of importance that will eventually cause our nation to commit economic suicide.

I am against the extravagant depletion of our natural resources which are needed to maintain our position as a world power; for the key to our world power is our home power, and the key to our home power is resources and when home power is lost, then world power is lost. Home power may be lost from weakness and decay within. We must make all our policy decisions with that fact in mind.

The United States, while being a leading advocate of world peace, should be prepared to defend itself at all times.

Fortunately, with the part that science is playing in warfare, this can be done without drafting too many of our young men. If the draft law is to continue as a permanent policy, then I favor handing it over in such a manner so as not to interfere with the education of our young people. The preparedness of a nation is not in numbers alone, the education and training of a small number may be a better preparedness program than the basic training of great numbers.

Therefore, I advocate that compulsory military training be given in conjunction with scholastic training, all at government expense. This should be done by trade, professional, and technical schools inferior to none. I also favor enlarging the National Guard in the respective states. But, if the present draft law is to remain our national policy, then all of the benefits of an adequate G. I. Bill of Rights should be extended to all who participate therein.

My position concerning the atomic bomb is the same as it was two years ago. I am opposed to sharing it with any nation. We have it—let them find it!

MANAGEMENT AND LABOR RELATIONS. The development of our nation has been paralleled by the cooperative and friendly relation between management and labor. I am dedicated to the proposition that management is entitled to a just return on its investment, and by the same token, labor is entitled to a just return on its investment. (Continued on page 5)

Suggest Planning Committee

The Hancock County Progress Association held their regular meeting on Thursday night August 5th., at the Courthouse. It was voted at this meeting that instead of the regular meeting held on the first and third Thursdays of each month, that these meetings would be omitted and the chairman would have authority to call special meetings as and when needed.

The association adopted the following resolution asking for the creation of a Hancock County Planning Committee.

Whereas, the people of Hancock County are burdened with a high public debt and high taxes and need improvements and services for which sufficient public funds are not available nor in sight, and

Whereas, much of the land has been removed from the tax rolls, and much of the timber resources of the county have been cut away, resulting in a loss of revenue which creates a serious problem for the county's future development, and

Whereas, the county is almost devoid of industries and therefore lacks needed employment for many of its citizens, and because of the tax burden and related problems outside industries are hesitant to locate here, and

Whereas the lack of industries and payrolls has resulted in the shipping out, in large numbers, of the most valuable resource of the county—its youth—which indicates special problems that require special solutions, and

Whereas, these problems present a challenging opportunity to all institutions and leaders within the county to band themselves together to undertake through vigorous cooperative effort, to study and work, using all the resources of the community and all the techniques that can be found to bring about the proper development of the county; therefore

Resolved, that the members of the Hancock County Progress Association, respectfully recommend that all civic institutions and leaders of Hancock County assemble together at a time and place to be agreed upon, for the purpose of setting up a working committee to be known as the Hancock County Planning Committee, or any other name agreed upon. We suggest that such committee will schedule regular meetings and have as its aim the attainment of the following objectives:

1. To take the leadership in bringing the development of Hancock County to a degree that a. Suitable employment will be available to all citizens.

b. Standards of living, as reflected in education, recreation, health, etc., may be maintained in a high degree.

c. Property values will be maintained at current values or raised to higher values by proper use of land and wise community planning.

2. And, initially, to sponsor a Hancock County Development study, which would be an exhaustive exploration, in collaboration with state and federal agencies and other interests of all industrial, farming, recreational, and other developments possibilities, and to provide the citizens of Hancock County with the opportunity to develop the fullest possible understanding of the purpose, nature and findings of the Development Study.

Be it further resolved, that we reaffirm our faith in the remaining abundant resources of Hancock County, particularly the people, land and forests, fisheries, waterways, and vacationing opportunities, and we hereby pledge our support to the success of the Committee's efforts.

LEGION ROCKCHAWS LOSE IN STATE PLAY OFF

The Bay St. Louis American Legion Baseballers ran into a combination of good baseball teams and hard luck to lose both of their games in the state play off in Jackson this week.

On Monday night the Rocks lost to Jackson 12-5 in an 11-inning game that they seemed to have in the bag. Going into the first half of the 9th inning, the Rocks were leading Jackson 4-3. Jackson scored 2 runs to forge ahead, but Uhlé homered in the locals half of the ninth to tie the score at 5-5. In the 11th inning Jackson really got loose and scored runs on a combination of hits and errors.

Tuesday's games were postponed and on Wednesday the Rocks met Greenwood and took an 8-3 drubbing. The Rock just couldn't get going.

People of Bay St. Louis are proud of their boys and considering this was their first year in Legion play they did mighty well in winning the Region Four crown.

ORTIE THEATRE SUNDAY - MONDAY "ALL MY SONS"

An outstanding play has been transformed into an outstanding motion picture. "All My Sons," the powerful, inspiring play chosen for top honors by the New York drama critics, will open Sunday and Monday as a screen offering at the Ortie Theatre. It turned out to be top screen fare, destined to rank among the outstanding pictures of the year.

Starring Edward G. Robinson and Burt Lancaster the Universal-International presentation portrays with dynamic simplicity the post-war story of how money proved stronger than patriotism to one man with

Waveland News

Mrs. Lee Ferrell entertained at her home with a lingerie and linen shower in honor of her sister Miss Bernice Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vital Bourgeois, a bride-elect of Sunday.

The table was very prettily decorated in pink and white from which delicious refreshments were served. The honoree received her gifts very graciously dressed in a pink but-cher linen dress with an eyelet embroidery yoke.

The guest list included, Mrs. H. Schmidt, mother of the groom-to-be, Mesdames Vital Bourgeois, Steckler, Chas. Fink, H. K. Holderith, C. B. Cooper, Gene Slocum, Ducre, Bourgeois, Henry Bourgeois, Jake Morreale, Chester Kingston, Delores Johnson, Randolph Bourgeois, Sr., Randolph Bourgeois, Jr., Frank Carver, Lloyd Bourgeois, Sidney Bourgeois, Betty Bourgeois, Garfield Ladner, Grace Ann Wilson, Shirley Lafontaine, Arvil Jenkins, Johnny Curtis, Stanley Weidman, Willie Bourgeois, Sr., John Eckerle, Elliott M. Ladner, Anthony Bourgeois, Walter Turcotte, E. C. Carriere, G. Claverie, Hazel Scrimshaw, Fred Herlihy, C. B. Mollere, Jr., Irvin Ladner, R. E. Cieutat, Mary Moran, Misses Valerie Thomas, Shirley Turcotte, Audry Bourgeois, Barbara Jenkins, and Miss Mabel Bourgeois.

Mrs. W. A. Walsdorf celebrated her birthday by entertaining her family at a dinner at Georgi's Restaurant and following the dinner they motored to Gulfport and enjoyed a movie.

Among those helping Mrs. Walsdorf to celebrate her birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Pellerin, Mrs. C. A. Bourgeois and son, Chas. Jr.; daughter Judy, and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walsdorf and daughter Gayle.

Mrs. A. F. Landis is a patient in Foundation Hospital where she underwent an operation. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Mary Moran spent the week end in Bay St. Louis as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Moran and daughter Miss Irma Moran.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Watkins spent a week's vacation at their home "Whispering Pines."

Dr. and Mrs. Walter M. Frick have started to rebuild their home on the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tove and family have returned from a trip to North Carolina and Florida where they spent a very pleasant vacation.

Mrs. Katie Murphy and daughter Miss Dorothy Murphy are guests of Mrs. Murphy's brother and sister-the result that a number of air men lost their lives, including his own son, his partner went to prison and later his own life was forfeited.

The film-makers faithfully followed the story for the screen. They not only took a fine play but actually improved upon the original. Robinson and Lancaster in the main roles add spirit and action to a picture that vibrates with high emotion and deep significance. Mady Christians, veteran star of stage and screen, is genuinely warming as wife and mother, while Louise Horton, Howard Duff, Arlene Francis and Frank Conroy are fine in supporting roles.

"All My Sons" was written and produced by Chester Erskine and directed by Irving Reis.

Doggett Announces Candidacy

titled to wholesome working conditions, including fair wages, reasonable working hours, and future social security.

In recognizing the rights of both management and labor we must realize that these rights imply responsibility on the part of the people of the United States. Our laws should be so written that neither management nor labor could jeopardize the security, happiness, and welfare of all the people.

As your Congressman, I shall be unbiased in my vote and deliberations on any measure which affects the proper relationship of anyone. One should not be given an advantage over the other, either in legislation or court decisions.

3. STATES' RIGHTS. "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited to it by the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." (Article 10, Constitution of the United States.) I shall jealously guard against any encroachment of States' Rights at all times. I am against the present so-called "Civil Rights" program, because it violates the letter and spirit of the above constitutional provision, as well as the fundamental concept for which our forefathers fought and died.

4. FARM LEGISLATION. (a) More fertilizer for the American farmer is essential. Over one-fourth of the fertilizer containing nitrogen produced in the United States is shipped to foreign countries. All fertilizer produced by U. S. factories in occupied countries is used in those countries. If the American farmer is to continue feeding and clothing the entire world, then he must have an adequate amount of fertilizer.

(b) Only the individual employed by industry come under the provisions of our present Social Security Act. I favor enlarging this act so that farmers and all types of business and professional people may if they desire, obtain this security.

(c) The interest rate on government loans should not be in excess of 2%.

(d) I favor enlarging and expanding the present T. V. A. and R. E. A. programs until every rural home can have all of the electrical power desired. And while this is being done, an adequate and comprehensive rural telephone system can be added with very little additional expense.

5. VETERAN'S BENEFIT. The first debt of the United States is to its disabled American veterans. Penny pinching economy should not be practiced on them. We must at all times make adequate appropriations for the veterans' hospitals.

Congress should make a sincere effort to secure a sound, practical, housing program. Although the war has been over for nearly three years, the Washington real estate lobby, through the influence of certain key Congressmen, has been able to block adequate housing legislation.

6. OLD AGE PENSIONS. I favor and shall work unceasingly for Federal pensions of at least $45.00 per month for all people over sixty years of age, irrespective of the state's contribution.

7. PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION. I favor the development of our rivers, ports, harbors, and farm-to-market roads. Anything that decreases the cost of transportation, increases the net profit to all producers.

8. FREE ENTERPRISE. I strongly believe in our system of free enterprise, and, if elected, I will oppose all measures which tend to destroy the initiative, either economically or morally, of our people.

My friends, this is a large district, composed of sixteen counties. It is impossible for me to personally see and talk with all of you. It is my desire, however, to personally know every citizen in the district. I do not believe a Congressman can adequately represent all the people when he comes in contact with only a few professional politicians. When I am elected you can come directly to me with any matter that comes within the duties of your Congressman; you should not have to discuss your problems with some local politician that is not responsible to you.

I believe that a representative, when the Congress is not in session, should be in his district, meeting and talking with the people. So that I can better represent them, when elected, I propose to follow that policy.

Between now and August 24th, I hope to discuss with you, through the radio and other means, my platform, as well as the other issues involved in this race. I sincerely hope that you will hear me when I come to your county. I earnestly solicit the vote and influence of every white voter in the district; and for your unselfish support I promise faithfully to do all in my power, with the help of the Almighty, to reflect honor and credit on the citizenship of this district.

GROVER C. DOGGETTE,

A. & G. THEATRE SUNDAY AND MONDAY "GIVE MY REGARDS TO BROADWAY"

Story of Family Who Could Not Be Cured of Footlight
Fever

"Give My Regards to Broadway," the new Twentieth Century-Fox Technicolor musical opening at the A. & G. Theatre Sunday and Monday, brings to the screen the warm, nostalgic and lively story of a grand (some called them "zany") family of troupers who just wouldn't die when vaudeville did. Starring Dan Dailey, who scored a sensation in "Mother Wore Tights," the unusual story with music features an outstanding supporting cast headed by Charles Winninger, Nancy Guild, Charlie Ruggles and Fay Bainter.

The picture, garnished with singing and dancing (and fancy juggling thrown in for a good measure), blends poignant drama and high hearted humor with unusual romance as it unfolds its saga of a family that carried Broadway with it wherever it went.

"Give My Regards to Broadway" is the story of "Albert The Great & Family" who persisted in living—and hoping—in the golden era of vaudeville, although vaudeville was dead, and movies obviously where to stay. There's Dad (Charles Winninger), "Albert the Great" himself, who can't forget the "big time," and is waiting for its curtain return. There's Mom (Fay Bainter), who seems almost as happy in calico as she was in tights. There are the lovely daughters (Barbara Lawrence and June Night) who let love break up the act. And there's Bert (Dan Dailey) who is the act, but who wins stardom in another way.

The story starts when the final curtain falls on vaudeville in 1923. Although he accepts a job in an industrial plant—"between engagements"—Dad keeps rehearsing and improving the family act for the day when they return to Broadway, where they belong.

The girls are impatient, and are ready to sacrifice the roar of public acclaim in the fuzzy future for wedding bells here and now. But Bert—his Dad's pride, joy and last hope; talented from his toes to his fingertips and sure "headliner" timbre—is not interested in romance, or anything else except the stage.

Cupid, however, finds his mark on Bert. How it happens, and what happens when it does happen, is lead to a climax as unusual as it is exciting and heartwarming.

Dan Dailey, who followed his

We're For Dogs
And People Both!

Like most home-loving communities, our town is mighty fond of dogs. So when Bob Parker's dog happened to bite the postman, it set off quite a debate.

Some folks suggested that "there ought to be a law" requiring dogs to wear a muzzle. But cooler heads figured that a whole townful of well-behaved dogs shouldn't be penalized for the fault of one. So now Bob's dog sports the only nose piece.

From where I sit, there's a parallel in the places selling beer. Most folks in our town like a moderate glass of beer from time to time... and want to enjoy it in a clean and law-abiding place. That's why they are all behind the Brewers' Program of "Self Regulation."

Under "Self Regulation" the brewers keep a careful check on outlets, see that they live up to the letter of the law, and recommend action against any retailer that gets out of line. It works, too, in the counties where the sale of beer is legal. The Brewers' "Self Regulation" program doesn't operate where the legal sale of beer has been voted out.

Senator John C. Stennis Keynotes Southern Senators Attack On Anti Poll Tax Bill

Favorable national reaction to Senator John C. Stennis' keynote of Southern Senators' attack on efforts to pass the Anti-Poll Tax Bill heralded a possible victory for the embattled Southerners in the first showdown fight on the "Civil Rights" program during the present week.

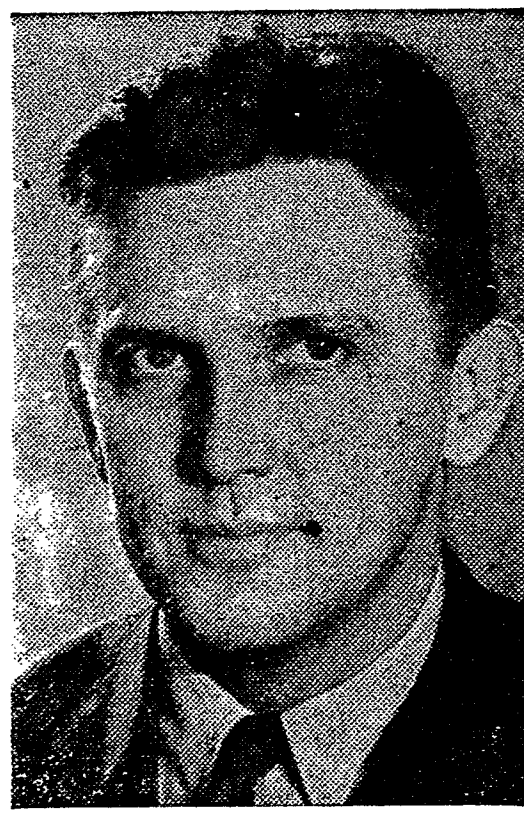

SENATOR JOHN C. STENNIS

Indications were growing that the Republican leadership would either fail in their attempt to force a vote on the bill by invoking cloture, or else admit their inability to pass the bill and accept a Constitutional amendment on the subject. Senator Stennis had repeatedly declared that a Constitutional amendment is the only legal way in which the Congress can deal with the qualifications of voters.

Newspapers throughout the country presented favorable reports of Senator Stennis' opening argument on the Anti-Poll Tax Bill, which touched off the long-heralded fight on the so-called "Civil Rights" legislation on the floor of the Senate. The former DeKalb circuit judge was chosen by his southern colleagues to fire the opening oratorical gun for the South because of the thorough study he had made of the constitutional background to the poll tax legislation and because of the favorable impression he had made upon his colleagues during his eight months' service in the Senate.

"High political integrity has been replaced by low political expediency," the Mississippian declared at the outset of his two-hour and ten-minute speech that held the attention of far more Senatorial listeners than is usually the case when a "filibuster" is in progress.

At the conclusion of Senator Stennis' speech, several Senators from outside the South, including both Republicans and Democrats, told him that they were reconsidering the proposal in the light of his statements as to the dangers inherent in the precedent of legislating on the qualifications of voters.

Two Republican leaders stated from the floor that they were considering supporting the proposal.

Senator Stennis' position on the poll tax is that Congress has the right to act on the matter only by means of a constitutional amendment and that it should be repealed only by the action of individual states.

Here are sample comments on the speech from leading Eastern newspapers: New York Times—"A clear victory for the Southern Senators at this brief session of Congress in their fight against the anti-poll tax bill seemed more than possible tonight at the end of the first day of their gravely conducted filibuster. Only the most unexpected events could alter this strong prospect. . . . Stennis began and ended his speech with relative restraint. He traced the constitutional history of poll taxes back to colonial times, read many court decisions bearing on the legal questions involved, and challenged the majority to 'offer a single respectable legal authority to sustain the constitutionality of the bill.'"

Washington Evening Star—"With Senator Stennis, Democrat, of Mississippi as leadoff man, Southerners plunged into a Senate talkfest today designed to bar action on anti-poll tax or any other 'civil rights' legislation. . . . The Mississippian told the Senate it would go 'far wrong,' if it considered the bill applied only to the seven poll tax States." Christian Science Monitor (Boston)—"It was 12:55 p. m. by the ornate gold clock almost directly above Senator Stennis' seat in the rear of the Chamber when the junior senator from Mississippi—the man who succeeded the late Senator Theodore Bilbo—arose and said in a loud, clear voice that could be heard all through the packed galleries:

"Mr. President, I rise to address the Senate on the subject of H. B. 29."

"The galleries stirred as the Mississippian adjusted some papers on a specially installed, chin-high reading desk and launched into his speech."

"Nearly all the southern Democratic leaders were on the scene—Harry F. Byrd of Virginia; Richard

B. Russell of Georgia, John J. Sparkman of Alabama. Senator Lister Hill of Alabama slumped into the seat next to where Senator Stennis was speaking.

"The scene bore all the signs of a rising political storm. Books were piled high on Senator Stennis' desk for what appeared to be ready ammunition, and just before he arose a page boy placed a glass of water on his desk. . . ."

"Senator Stennis spoke in a calm, conciliatory tone. And once or twice his arm went out toward the empty seats on the Republican side of the house as he pleaded with his colleagues to weigh only the legal implications of the measure."

"In all sincerity, I challenge proponents of the bill to come into court and cite book and page to sustain this proposition," the Senator declared. . . .

"His Senate speech, starting what had all the appearance of a filibuster, was delivered in a temperate mood. His tone bore out predictions that the southern Democratic leaders in the Senate intended to use this opportunity—forced on them by the Republicans' last-minute refusal to approve the compromise offer—as a national forum in which to plead the southern cause."

MISS PATRICIA ROBIN HONORED AT HOSE AND HANDKERCHIEF SHOWER

Miss Patricia Robin was the honoree on Saturday afternoon at a beautifully appointed hose and handkerchief shower with Mrs. Thomas Denton Sellers as hostess entertaining at her South Beach home.

The color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations and in the refreshments. The table in the living room was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of Marconi Daisies with a silver umbrella in the center. On this table were silver platters containing the individual cakes and tiny mints iced in green and white. On the mantel was a white bowl holding white asters, centered with a tiny umbrella.

Miss Robin, wearing a Kelly Green tulle dress worn with a black hat and a shoulder corsage of white gardenias, was seated with her another beneath a white eyelet embroidered umbrella which was finished with a broad lace ruffle and suspended from the ceiling; in this were the gifts. The umbrella was lowered and the honoree took the packages.

A unique feature of the entertainment was a game in which the young ladies' future was revealed. The girls tied all the ribbons off the packages together and tied the bride-elect's engagement ring to this, then these ribbons were wound into a ball and the girls stood in a circle and unwound the ribbons as the ball was passed to them. The young lady who unwound the ring was the next bride. This fell to Miss Mary Leigh Weston. The punch bowl was in the sun parlor where Mr. Leo W. Seal served punch, assisted by Mrs. Claude Broach, daughter of the hostess.

Carlo Pisciotta And Miss Rosemary Piazza Married In St. Augustine Church, New Orleans

Miss Rosemary Piazza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Piazza, Sr., was married on Sunday, August 1st to Mr. Carlo Pisciotta of New Orleans, at a nuptial Mass at 10:00 A. M. in St. Augustine's Church, New Orleans.

The matron of honor to the bride was Mrs. Edna Piazza and the maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Cormier. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lois L. Hoste; Mrs. Rita Miller, and Mrs. Crucia Mae Skerlich.

Mr. Pisciotta's best man was Mr. Gilbert Gayaut and the groomsmen were Messrs. A. J. Piazza, Jr., Roy Uhle and Michael Skerlich. The ushers were Mr. Frank Cusimano and Mr. John Terrana.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white organza made on princess lines with lace appliques which were outlined with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt and full train, which fell as part of the dress itself, were also inset with lace applied panels outlined with the seed pearls. Her finger tip veil of illusion was a French import and was held in place with a lace cap and lilies of the valley. She carried a hand bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley with cascades of the latter on narrow white satin ribbons. Her gloves were also of lace.

The attendants of the bride wore gowns of pale green organza, also made on princess lines with myriads of tiny ruffling on the full skirts which formed semi-trains. They carried fan shaped bouquets of pale pink rosebuds.

The church was decorated with tall floor baskets of gladiolas and lilies of the valley and each basket was adorned with a large white satin bow.

The wedding party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin and during the ceremony and singing the organist played Rubenstein's "Melody in F" and selections from McDowell's "Woodland Scenes." During the celebration of the Mass, the vocal soloist rendered appropriate religious hymns and the wedding party descended the altar and left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Recessional.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the New Orleans Athletic Club. The bride and groom received the good wishes of their friends under an arch of palms surrounded with tall floor baskets of flowers.

Mrs. Piazza, mother of the bride was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Pisciotta, mother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Piazza wore a dress of Navy blue crepe with a large picture hat and matching accessories with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Pisciotta wore a gray dress of Skira crepe with matching accessories and a black felt hat trimmed in flat gray feathers with an orchid corsage.

Following the reception the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Miami and other points of interest in Florida. The bride wore for traveling a dress of Navy blue sheer with a Navy blue lace straw hat and matching accessories.

On their return they will be domiciled in their new home on Pasteur Blvd. in Gentilly.

Going over from Bay St. Louis for the wedding were Mr. Vincent Piazza; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Piazza and son C. J. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Piazza; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Benedetto; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Noto; Mrs. R. L. Mitchell and son Bobby; Mrs. D. M. Palanque; and Mrs. A. P. Enterstein.

Bygone Days

By UDELL FAYRE

OCTOBER, NOVEMBER, DECEMBER, 1894

Autumn was on the way, and all of the summer residents were returning to their homes in New Orleans.

The attendance at the public school was 102 pupils, an increase of over 20 per cent over the last session.

Dr. and Mrs. L. A. deMontluzin returned from a stay in New Orleans where they went to celebrate their daughter's, Mrs. C. K. deLappe, 15th wedding anniversary.

Citizens of Bay St. Louis went to the depot to see a train load of Apache Indians and their leader, Geronimo, pass through. They were on their way back to the West after spending eight years in captivity at the Mount Vernon barracks in Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuneo and daughters left to spend the winter in New Orleans.

Messrs John Edwards, Charles Breath and James Breath went to Louisiana to accept positions for the winter.

Another terrible fire struck Bay St. Louis. Firemen's Hall was totally destroyed along with a feed store, Ray's undertaking establishment and several homes.

A dance was given for the benefit of the firemen's building fund. A dance contest was held and the four couples selected as best were Mr. Leon Capedon and Mrs. W. J. Gallup; Mr. L. J. de Paoli and Miss Carrie Sidler; Mr. W. E. Saucier and Miss Mamie Baron; and Mr. A. J. Baron and Miss Emily Massie. Mr. Capedon won the prize.

Mr. W. L. May sold his interest in the Echo to Mr. A. G. Osinich. Miss Philo Monti gave a candy pulling at her home.

Alderman and Mrs. Ferdinand Egloff announced the birth of a little "Sunbeam."

Enrollment at the Bay Central School was 140 with an average attendance of 115.

Captain Paul Conrad, Mayor of Waveland, died in New Orleans.

Miss Lelia Walters and Christian Dorn were to be married.

Captain William T. Boardman died at his home.

"A well known newspaper man asks who is it in heaven that has the disposal of the babies that are sent to earth? He has mighty tantalizing ways and poor judgment, whoever he is, even if he is an angel. Boys are always sent where girls are wanted, and girls are sent where the prayer is for boys. The next meal is coming from always have triplets and twins."

Mr. and Mrs. Engman welcomed a little sunbeam just before Christmas.

It was considered poor taste to give Christmas gifts on that day; the day previous was the proper time.

"Let your children read the Echo. It is instructive and will tend to broaden their minds and teach them good from evil." was an insert in the paper at the time.

New 4-H Club Awards Stress Farm Forestry

FARM OWNERS	OTHER SMALL OWNERS	LARGE OWNERS	PUBLIC
30%	27%	18%	25%

The importance of farm forestry in America is stressed by the fact that farmers own the greatest single share of commercial woodlands. A 4-H club forestry project, symbolized by the young man planting a seedling, offers awards to spur interest in farm forestry.

The stake of farm boys and girls in the woodlands of this state, and of America as a whole, is emphasized by new national and state awards for a 4-H club project in forestry, which include medals for state winners, and scholarships and trips for regional winners.

Four-H club members in this community, interested in forestry, are eligible to compete for the awards which include:

A gold medal for the state winner
One of four regional $200 cash scholarships
One of four trips to the next 4-H club congress in Chicago.

The four areas in which regional awards are being made are the West, South, Central states and Northeast.

The sponsor for these awards is the American Forest Products Industries, a national association of lumber, pulp and paper, plywood and other forest industries.

"Good forest practices on the nation's farms are of major importance," declares C. William B. Greeley, chairman of the American Forest Products Industries. "Farmers own a greater share of the nation's woodlands than any other group. With our uses for wood increasing almost daily, we must see to it that our harvests of trees are sufficient to meet the needs of our growing population. This means greater and permanent opportunities for farmers who manage their woodlands for continuing forest crops."

National surveys show that farmers own 30 per cent of the nation's 460 million acres of commercial forest land. Other owners of small tracts own 27 per cent. Medium and large owners have about 18 per cent of the total, and the public owns about 25 per cent.

Information about the 4-H club forestry project may be obtained from your county extension agent.
